STREET GOSSIP ABOUT TOWN

"Well have you any friends in the new organization?" asked the street corner politician as his friend paused to pass the time of day.

"No," replied the friend, "what organization is that?"

"The L. L. L.," explained the politician.

"What does the three 'L's' stand for?" queried the friend.

"Before I explain," replied the politician, "I want to tell you a little yarn I heard on the street today."

"Drive along," said the friend as the politician paused.

"A business man and a friend were talking," continued the politician, "when the friend suddenly asked the business man if he had bought any Liberty Bonds yet."

"The business man hesitated a second and then said that as business had been so dull he had not been able to do as much as he would like."

"But when pressed by the friend he finally acknowledged that he had bought $10,000 in bonds."

"I don't call that small," said the business man's friend, "for I wish I could do as much myself, but I can only afford to get two $50 bonds."

"The business man condescendingly replied that he thought he had done no more than his duty to his country as he was not eligible for enlistment in the army or navy service."

"Then later in the day the friend in talking with a man who kept in close touch with the Liberty Bond situation found out to his surprise that the business man had not bought $10,000 in Liberty Bonds."

"In fact he had not bought any."

"So you see," said the politician, "the business man is an honored member of the L. L. L. Association."

"I see," said the friend thoughtfully, "the Liberty Loan Liars."

"Correct you are," replied the politician, "and you will find a lot of them."

"I heard a good one the other day," said the politician following a pause.

"What was that?" asked the friend.

"It seems that a drummer came to Kingston and put up at a local hotel for dinner. He was not satisfied with the grade of butter served him and calling to the waiter said, 'Are you sure this is butter?'"

"He was assured that it positively was, but the assurance failed to convince him and wrapping up a small chunk in a newspaper he hurried to the city hall and visited the board of health office."

"Look at what they are serving as butter in Kingston," he said indignantly to one of the officers of the board he found in the office.

"Why what is it if not butter?" asked the officer without taking a second look at the small patty in the newspaper.

He talked for several minutes but when he found he was wasting his breath he slammed the office door shouting back, "You wait till I get" to Albany and I'll take it up with the state department.

"Just what he wanted the board to do about the matter is not known. Likely he expected the hotel proprietor to be pinched and made to eat a dose of the butter or some other dire thing."

"In the meantime, however, the health board is not worrying as they have a lot more important matters to harass the wind these warm days," concluded the politician.

"Changing the subject," said the friend, "who do you think will be chairman of the eliminators?"

"I was up a tree on the subject myself," replied the politician, "until I read A. E. Dederick had been appointed the third member of the excise commission."

"Evidently you think Mr. Dederick will head the eliminators then," interrupted the friend.

"That is my belief," replied the politician, "for Mr. Dederick is one of the most capable men in the city and is never happy unless he can go ahead with everything. Look what he did to the streets in his ward when he was the head of the board of public works."

"And that was a darn good job too," replied the friend, "for some of the streets had not been repaired in years they tell me."

"And it is the same in every thing Mr. Dederick lays his hand to," continued the politician not noticing the interruption of his friend, "for Mr. Dederick is sure one hustler and believes in doing things up brown."

"Then you think he is a good man for the eliminating commission?" asked the friend.

"Mayor Canfield evidently thought so, for he appointed him," replied the politician.

Children's Day was held Sunday. The exercises were fine and those who braved the unpleasant weather were well repaid for their attendance. The pulpit and platform were very prettily decorated with spring flowers. These with the large American flag at the back of the pulpit made a pleasing background for those taking part. The program consisted of recitations, singing and several concerted exercises. The recitations were all most pleasingly received. The singing in solo, duet and chorus was, as usual, very good. While the other exercises were appropriate and beautiful. There were three of the latter. One by the smaller tots, all in white and most charming in appearance, was "sowing seed." A second was of a patriotic nature by the lads of the Sunday school, about two banners, the American flag and the church flag, verses were recited of loyalty and true patriotism, while at times marching by the boys gave an added feature to this exercise. Quite an elaborate exercise with varied evolutions was where the older girls, each bearing a flag, some the American flag, some the church flag and some the company flag, recited verses and sang of loyalty and duty, finally combining in a union of the three flags. The pastor made an appropriate address to the children, while Master Robert Hendrickson gave a farewell address with a most fascinating how and charming farewell kiss. The collection was for purchasing Bibles for the soldiers.

According to the requirements of the new township school law, the trustees of the eight school districts of the town of Hurley, met in the school house of West Hurley on Tuesday afternoon last. GOOD THINGS FOR THE TABLE.

The following dish is a good one for a hot dish, as a large number may be served at slight cost.

Hot Chicken Sandwich. — Cook the chicken until very tender in plenty of water, which will be used in making the gravy. Cool and remove the meat from the bones and cut it into bits with the scissors. Put the skin and giblets, omitting the liver, through the meat chopper and mix the chicken with enough stock to make the mixture moist; season well with salt and pepper. Thicken the remaining stock with one and a half tablespoonfuls of flour mixed with cold water, using this amount for every cupful of stock. Let it boil and season well. When serving, allow two slices of bread cut thin; place one slice on a hot plate, spread a spoonful of the chicken mixture over it and cover with a second slice, then dip a ladle of gravy over it. Serve with a generous portion of well-cooked rice or mashed potatoes. One chicken cooked and served in this manner will serve 15 people.

Bolled Russian Dressing.—Take two-thirds of a cupful of any kind of bolled salad dressing, four tablespoonfuls of strained chili sauce, two tablespoonfuls of diced pimientos, a half tablespoonful of olives cut in half-inch lengths, and a tablespoonful of tarragon vinegar. Mix all the ingredients and chill well; then serve on lettuce.

Egg Dish.—Melt a tablespoonful of butter in a baking dish, cover with crumbs and pour over a half a can of mock turtle soup diluted with a third of a cupful of hot water. Break five eggs very carefully over the top. Sprinkle with half a teaspoonful of salt, an eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper and a third of a teaspoonful of curry powder well mixed. Dot with bits of butter and bake from 12 to 15 minutes.

Green Pea Omelet.—A few left-over green peas may be stirred in omelet just before putting to cook and served with a circle of lettuce around the platter.

NO CENTRAL ZONE BANK IS NEEDED SAYS OPPOSITION

Arguments for and Against Proposed Trust Company Heard by Superintendent of Banks Richards—Wealth of Data Submitted on Local Industry and Finance.

While the effect which the war will have on finances in Kingston could not be stated definitely or with any assurance that predictions would come true, the logical sequence of events in the light of past history was recited to State Superintendent of Banks Eugene Lamb Richards at Albany on Wednesday both in favor and in opposition to the application of the proposed Kingston Trust Company for a charter.

National Banks Cannot Establish Branches.

Judge Betts, who made the opening argument in opposition to the application, after reciting the former decision of Superintendent Richards a year ago, that he would entertain seriously a renewal of the application in the event of the failure of any of the National Banks to establish a branch in the central zone or to become converted into a trust company, called attention to the fact that there was no authority in law whereby a national bank can establish a branch in a city the size of Kingston. The National Ulster County Bank believed that moving badly to the central zone would mean moving out of business.

Cost of Maintaining a Branch Bank.

On the proposition that the bank be converted into a trust company and a branch established in the central zone, attention was called to the cost. The National Ulster County Bank has a capital of $150,000 and surplus and undivided profits of about $100,000. Should it make the change, it must increase its capital stock from $150,000 to $250,000, hence securing $100,000 additional capital as its present surplus and undivided profits would not be too large for a trust company having $250,000 capital. The bank is now paying a dividend at the rate of 6 1/2 per cent on the present par value of its stock, and to maintain the dividend rate on the increased capital stock it would be required to earn for dividends alone an additional $6,250 a year. Two men would have to be employed at the branch one at a salary of $2,000 and one at $1,000, in addition to which rent, fuel, light, stationery, janitors, etc., would easily cost $1,334, making a total of $11,000 to run the branch in the central zone.

To get the additional money with which to run a branch, therefore, would oblige the bank to invest its entire capital in securities paying five per cent or less, which would make the income from the additional $100,000 less than $5,000, leaving a surplus of $6,000 to be provided for by increased business. And, this does not take into consideration or make provision for losses which are inseparable from the banking or any other business. Five thousand dollars is much more than the average carried to undivided profits by this or any other bank in the city. Hence, the suggested scheme, as applied to the National Ulster County Bank, would only result in the lowering of its dividends, for which reason it did not commend itself to the bank officials or shareholders.

Big Business Does Banking Business Elsewhere.

In this connection, Judge Betts called attention to the fact that much of the banking business of the corporations in the central zone is done in Albany, New York or Philadelphia, because the institutions are branches or subordinate to the principal business which is located elsewhere and the concerns simply bring a check to Kingston late in the week as the particular bank where they do business will permit and get it cashed to pay employees on Saturday. These concerns would put no additional deposits in a trust company in the central zone.

43 Cents Capital to $1 of Deposits.

A table submitted by Judge Betts showed that the capital of the national banks of Kingston, with surplus and undivided profits, amounts to $1,421,000, and the deposits amount to $3,237,000. In other words, there is 43 cents of banking capital to every one dollar of deposits in Kingston, which is higher than any other city of the size of Kingston and higher than any one of a dozen cities in the state contained in the table submitted by Judge Betts. Good banking authorities agree that ten cents of banking capital is amply sufficient for one dollar of banking deposits. Since the amount of capital first invested in banking business in Kingston, the amount has been steadily reduced; one bank failed and went out of business; several of the other banks reduced their banking capital and more may follow. More banking capital is unnecessary.

Banks Elsewhere Grouped Together.

Attention was called by Judge Betts to the fact that in other cities the banks for the most part are in one restricted area; they are clustered together, so the question of geography should be dismissed. The application for the establishment of a trust company is signed by approximately one hundred people. There are some duplications and some are not dead.

The number of bank depositors in Kingston is:

National Ulster County Bank	339
Ulster County Bank	1,318
State of New York National Bank	1,753
Kingston National Bank	1,360

First National Bank of Rondout	1,105
Rondout National Bank (estimated)	1,600
Kingston Savings Bank	6,698
Ulster County Savings Institution	8,627
Rondout Savings Bank	7,345

Total 31,038
Thirty-one thousand depositors are satisfied with existing conditions. Would the business of one hundred persons carry on a trust company? Many of the petitioners represent institutions which would not deposit a dollar in a trust company or bank located in the central zone for the reason that deposits are kept in other cities. Others would not leave their present banks because they are satisfied.

Easy Borrowing on Roseate Stories.

The arguments all the way through, said Judge Betts, are in favor of having a banking institution where money can be easily obtained on less security than is now required in the city of Kingston. Borrowing made easy on roseate stories of property values and financial individual responsibility instead of the conservative management now had by the banks is the plaint of the proposed Kingston Trust Company here. Kingston has had an era now long since of easy borrowing and the banks and their shareholders have paid dearly for the same. That experience it is not desired to have duplicated.

Throughout the arguments also runs the strain that banks should be run to develop a town and that the Kingston banks are not so run, said Judge Betts. One hard-headed old old banker somewhere in this state advises in substance Gilbert F. Kennedy, who wrote to him asking concerning a trust company in his town, that banks were not run to develop or build up a town or a locality in a town, but that they were run to make money for shareholders and save the money that they had. "This heretical idea in banking so astounded my young friend who read the communication from various trust companies throughout the state to Gilbert F. Kennedy, attorney at law, for the proposed Kingston Trust Company, that he failed to read it to the superintendent at our July hearing," said Judge Betts. "But nevertheless it is on file with the other communications in this office and its well worth reading. The letter in question savors so much of sound banking, and has such an entire absence of hysteria that the reason why it was not read was probably because it was thought that its reading would produce a discordant note in an otherwise borrowing-made-easy argument."

In conclusion, Judge Betts urged the superintendent to take into consideration the present war, with values shaken and unsettled. This of all times is altogether the wrong time to start a financial experiment in a city already burdened with too much banking capital.

Effect on Savings Banks.

On behalf of the Kingston Savings Bank, Judge Betts said that the formation of a trust company would inevitably result in withdrawal of some deposits and the bank would be forced to dispose of part of its securities at a time when general prices had resulted in lower prices. The savings banks have no other protection than the state superintendent of banks. They should be left to earn money in safe investments and these deposits should not be made available for easy borrowing.

The sale of Liberty Bonds will result in withdrawals from savings banks, particularly if a subsequent loan results in a higher rate of interest.

Bank Trustees Have Considered Trust Company.

Virgil B. Van Wageningen, for the Kingston National Bank, said the national bank trustees had considered the superintendent's suggestion to convert into a trust company and had agreed it was not feasible. Plainly speaking, the people of Kingston live on each other; their support and a great deal of the money used must come from outside. The population of Ulster in ten years has decreased 7,000; in thirty years Kingston's population has increased only 7,000. The blue-stone business, the cement business and the wholesale ice business have formerly been prominent county industries but had disappeared and nothing had taken their place. Each village of any size in the county possessed either banks of discount or savings banks and the business they carried on could not reasonably be expected to come to the new trust company.

Ulster County Savings Institution Opposed.

Philip Elting, for the Ulster County Savings Institution, opposed the application, briefly and urged that the Kingston banks be allowed to work out their own salvation.

Liberty Loan Apportionment Indicates Something.

F. J. R. Clarke, president of the National Ulster County Bank, called attention to the apportionment of the Liberty Loan among cities of about equal size, as follows:

Kingston	$ 793,000
Glen Falls	1,628,000
Middletown	1,318,000
Newburgh	1,621,000
Poughkeepsie	2,308,000
Auburn	1,192,000
Blingtonham	1,536,000
Lockport	1,225,000
Olean	1,510,000

These figures indicated the poverty of the Kingston banking situation.

Businesses That Were.

John E. Kraft, individually, submitted a map of Kingston and vicinity showing the location of industries and mills that have disappeared, with the amount of their former annual production. The production was: cement, $2,790,000; annually, blue-stone, $2,250,000; Delaware & Hudson canal, $1,260,000.

For many years the Rondout creek was so filled with boats at certain hours of the day, he said, that it was possible to talk from shore to shore over the boats, without having to take recourse to the ferryboat. "Skillpot."

The city of New York ten years ago had begun the Ashokan construction and paid to Ulster county property owners $5,741,392, besides spending twenty-five million dollars in work, but the prosperity indicated by these figures had ceased.

Bankers Only Want Security. Corporation Counsel William D. Brinnier said that personally he ought to favor the location of a trust company in the central zone where most of his property interests were located, but he did not believe the time was yet ripe for it. Any man with proper security could get accommodation at the banks, and the security was not required to be gilded but only reasonably safe. All men in Kingston were not fools, and if there had been promise of a trust company becoming a paying proposition one would have been organized long ago.

Bankers Didn't Attend Liberty Loan Mass Meeting.

Arthur C. Connelly, of counsel for the proposed trust company, answering the list of corporations submitted by Mr. Kraft which formerly were in business, said that most of them had gone out of business so long ago that the majority of men present never had heard of them, but the list of concerns represented on the petition were all live, going concerns.

It had been noticeable, he said, that when a mass meeting was held to subscribe to Liberty Bonds, the bankers opposed to the application were not there, but the bonds were taken by people residing in the central part of the city. The employees of one factory had taken $4,000 of bonds. The industries mentioned might have disappeared, but they were not the industries in the central zone, which took the places of the defunct concerns.

The motto of Kingston banks was "Let well enough alone," but unless stirred to action they would remain the same for the next fifty years. He was glad to hear the prediction that the time would come when a trust company could be formed, but he believed the time had come already, and the petitioners had come to the superintendent in good faith and with good character. The speakers were not justified in attacking by innuendo any of the incorporators and their remarks would not be made at home. At the last hearing the paramount question was the effect of the war on interest payments, and all the questions now raised had been threshed out last July.

As to the effect of the war, Mr. Connelly submitted a large number of letters from presidents of trust companies throughout the state, stating that they believed the war would stimulate business and all banking business would be benefited by it.

It was manifestly impossible to submit a list of all proposed depositors and probably some depositors would withdraw their money to deposit it with the trust company, but that was happening all the time. The trust company had assurances of deposits of between two and two and a half million dollars not now in Kingston banks. Nobody could say to bank depositors they must or must not deposit their money in this or that bank. In the opinion of other bankers the withdrawal of funds in Liberty Bonds and other war purposes at this time would not affect the banking situation adversely.

Two Questions Involved.

Judge Clearwater, who closed the argument, said the two crucial questions involved were whether it would be possible for a trust company in the central zone to obtain substantial deposits without depleting the deposits in existing banks and whether conditions which inevitably will arrive as a result of the war will result in such a liquidation that the organization of a new institution will be a disturbing factor in the banking situation with serious consequences to existing depositors. There was absolutely no personal feeling in regard to any of the incorporators of the trust company but the question was being viewed only in a business light.

National Banks were granted charters by the controller of the currency at Washington as a matter of form, but the superintendent of banks of the state of New York was required to and did exercise discernment and had shown that he considered carefully all questions of finance and the rights of depositors. New deposits were promised for the trust company but the promises were not made by officers but only by subordinates. Experience had shown that outside capital might interest itself in the hope of attracting other capital but in view of conditions already disclosed this was not a time for financial experiments in New York state. The Liberty Loan inevitably must result in withdrawals of trust funds from savings banks and their investment in Liberty Bonds and on top of this other withdrawals for re-deposit in a new trust company should not be encouraged.

While he admired the spirit of optimism in the counsel for the petitioners which time did not dim, he did not think the optimistic hope in the hearts of the petitioners should be gratified by the superintendent as long as there was a question of it becoming entirely too expensive a proposition.

Adin's Acrobatic Horse.

A. Adin the downtown milk dealer made the discovery today that he had a trick circus horse. While the horse was being driven through Abel street by Morris Adin the animal suddenly turned a complete somersault between the shafts of a milk wagon and landed on his feet without damaging the rig. Morris said that this was his first experience he had ever had in driving a horse who could perform such a trick without damaging the wagon. The cause for the horse thinking he was at a circus was due to his hitching his foot in tar treatment on the road which caused him to trip.

EDUCATION BOARD FOR ECONOMY

Declines to Spend $5,000 of Taxpayers' Money on "Playground Instruction"—Must Employ Physical and Military Instructors.

The board of education expressed itself Wednesday night as believing itself fully aware of the wishes of the citizens of Kingston and therefore declined to follow the plan whereby a physical instructor and two assistants should be engaged for the schools whose duty during vacation weeks will be the supervision of play of boys and girls on playgrounds already established and to be established.

Under the state law, it becomes necessary for the board to employ for the schools a physical instructor and a military instructor, such work to begin in September. The board will receive from the state toward the salaries of such instructors the sum of $600, and if it employed two assistant instructors the board would receive $800 additional.

The proposition of aiding in the establishment and maintenance of city playgrounds was made by the Citizens' Playground Committee and was turned down by the board of education, which held a special meeting for the purpose of acting on the matter, on the ground that increased cost of conducting the schools on account of war, in addition to the increased cost of living to each individual in Kingston on account of the war, does not warrant the expenditure of nearly $3,000 additional for playground instruction. In reaching this conclusion, the board also took into consideration the necessary extra expenditures it will be required to make by reason of the destruction of School No. 5 by fire.

The proposition advocated by the Citizens' Playground Committee is the establishment of playgrounds in different parts of the city and their equipment for play by boys and girls. Inasmuch as the board of education must employ a physical instructor and a military instructor, the committee proposed that the two positions be combined, and that the same instructor be employed, with two assistants, to supervise and direct recreation at the playgrounds during the vacation weeks. If the board appointed the two assistants, the state would pay one-half their salaries. The board of public works has appropriated $2,500 for playground improvement, etc., and the playground committee expects that the common council will contribute $500.

The board estimated the cost and what it would be necessary to raise by taxation in the school budget if the plan should be put into effect, and the figures were presented by Trustee Flemming as follows: Director and two assistants, $3,600; playgrounds, 2,500; high school playground and equipment, 500.

Total $6,600
From this should be deducted the following sum:
Received from state for two assistants $800
Board of public works appropriation 2,500
Aldermanic appropriation 500
Salary of physical and military instructor combined, 1,500

Board of education to raise additional $3,900
The $2,900 additional which the board of education would be required to raise does not include the $900 of the $1,500 salary of the combined physical and military instructor, which is absolutely necessary to be raised by tax.

The playground committee present was composed of Judge Hasbrouck, the Rev. Father Lange, and Robert S. Rodie. President R. E. Leighton of the Chamber of Commerce and Secretary James E. Canfield also were present, as was Mr. Taylor, representing the Playground Association of America, who has been spending some weeks in Kingston.

Judge Hasbrouck urged the board to consider that children now are not content with simple methods of pastimes and look for other ways of amusement, and in order to stop the decay of youth and to develop the mind and body the citizens have endorsed the recreational system. He realized the citizens were burdened with taxes but the result would be a benefit to the community. He called attention to the appropriation made by the board of public works to lay out playgrounds in both ends of the city and asked the board to hire an instructor and put the grounds in the rear of the high school in shape for a third playground.

The Rev. Father Lange said taxes were not the only things to be considered, and the proposition should not be considered only from the standpoint of dollars and cents.

Mr. Taylor explained the proposition in detail and under the figures submitted by him the cost would be about $500.

The cost of carrying out the plan was presented by Trustee Flemming. Trustee Van Wageningen called attention to the advancing cost of everything to the consumer and the increasing tax rate which was due to necessities, the cost of coal, for instance, being twenty-five per cent greater than formerly. He also spoke of the additional cost in connection with rebuilding School No. 5, which would not be entirely covered by the insurance money.

During the discussion that followed, Trustee Dederick said he did not approve of an outsider coming in and telling the board what to do.

Trustee Atkins moved that the teachers' committee be empowered to employ two assistants to the physical director at a salary of $800 each and that the matter be referred to the committee with power.
Trustee Flemming moved as an amendment that the board employ a physical director who shall also be a military instructor, at a salary of $1,500 per annum and who shall also be competent in playground instruction. Trustee Washburn.

Abdications of History.

Ever since dynasties have existed there are records of kings having abdicated from one cause and another. Far back in the misty past one monarch gave up his throne because he was "wearied with dominion," another retired out of preference for the freedom of private life; a third laid down his crown because his schemes failed; still another abdicated in a fit of melancholy; and there are two instances in which kings left their thrones because they were unable to cope with national crises.

Sparrows Eaten in England.

Sparrows are often eaten by English country persons. They are captured easily in fine mesh nets stretched over the ground and baited with grain, or in nets hung at night around their roosting places in ricks, hedges and ivy-clad walls. Also, the ground can be baited and a crowd of feeding sparrows laid low with a gun, using fine shot for the purpose.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 14, 1917.

The popular indoor sport for the major part of the population during the last few days has been filling out the military census blanks calculated to furnish the State with the information as to its resources in men and woman power. It is an illuminating operation, more illuminating for the individual, perhaps, than he or she had expected. Of the followers of the so-called learned professions, the medical men come out at the top of the heap as potential factors in war. Lawyers, the clergy, newspaper editors, bankers and business men as a general rule have so specialized in their training as to be less adapted to meet the demands created by war conditions than men in humbler walks of life. Outside of a college education and knowledge of the law, coupled with ability to operate a typewriter, one lawyer in the city was unable to mention any calling in which he would be useful and almost the same result marked a newspaper man's entry. Out of these classes which are not skilled in any trade should come the second line of defense if the Governor, under the Stivers' act, decides to follow this method of filling in gaps in the National Guard. There are thousands of persons able to run automobiles in the State, but that ability will count for little at home, as the gasoline supply may be held down, and the need will be for lather hands, machinists and men skilled in the use of their hands. Professional men could well begin to study along the lines of machine shop practice if they want to do their utmost for their country, once they have made their purchases of Liberty Loan Bonds.

Constantine of Greece has followed the example of the Czar of Russia and abdicated, being more fortunate, however, than Nicholas, who is a prisoner in his palace, in being able to seek recreation in Switzerland, and to leave a son on the throne. In that little spot of neutrality in the midst of the blood-colored map of Western Europe, the former ruler of Greece may be depended upon to continue his activities for his Hohenzollern brother-in-law in so far as the new and limited field will permit. The prospects for the king business in Europe and elsewhere are about as good as those for the world's wheat crop this year. Albert of Belgium is on the fighting line in Flanders and Peter of Serbia in exile on an island in the Aegean, while Ferdinand of Rumania is settling a new capital in Jassy, near the Russian border. King George of England is taking a leaf out of the book of progress by adopting the most democratic style of living ever maintained by a British monarch since the Crusades. The old order is passing and light is breaking in the Balkans now that Constantine, the imperial dictator and adherent to the Kaiser, has been shuffled off the map. His policy was against Greece's best interests and in sympathy with her historic foes, Bulgaria and Turkey. His downfall was brought about by his own machinations. With Alexander on the throne, a more liberal policy is assured and a further triumph is recorded for the cause of democracy.

On June 8 an equestrian statue of Robert E. Lee was unveiled on the battlefield of Gettysburg. On the previous day Chief Justice White, the head of our Supreme Court, marched with the Confederate veterans after the President of the United States, also Southern-born, had welcomed the old Southern warriors who were in Washington as the guests of the aged Grand Army of the Republic. On June 9 a Pennsylvania audience applauded an address in which George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Robert E. Lee were linked together as examples of "great patriots." The time has long since passed by when it was pertinent to observe that "the war is over"—referring to the great struggle of nationalism vs. State autonomy in 1861-5. There is hardly anything now left to be said except that the only folly failing to come out of Berlin in recent months was an effort to stir up the old sectional question and Richelieu in the United States. Berlin Richelieu it worth while to attempt slowly to try the blacks against the whites of this country. Berlin saw the possibilities of an anti-Mrs. Frost. Mr. and Mrs.

American movement in Mexico and in Japan. But even in scheming Germany, it was regarded as useless to attempt to weaken the United States through an effort to revive the issues of our so-called Civil War.

Sectionalism in the United States died long ago and not even a spark can be made to rise from the cold embers. In 1860-1 eleven Southern States seceded from the Union, acting on a principle which, in a technical sense or in the light of original understandings and reservations, was sufficiently correct, but which failed to take account of the slow yet steady growth of a genuine national spirit. The States were older than when they had voluntarily formed the Union, all of them or the most of them regarding it at the outset as their creature which could be made or unmade at will. But when eleven Southern commonwealths, acting on the old idea, withdrew, as the States of New England had repeatedly and even as late as 1843-5 threatened to do, the national idea had grown to such proportions that they found the great majority of States determinedly opposed to the movement. The wonderful thing, the great thing, is that these States that were not allowed to withdraw have themselves long since felt the quickening of the same national spirit. The "South" as well as the "North" is now glad and happy to be part, not of a terminable confederation, but of an indissoluble, enduring and powerful nation that exposes an unbroken front to a foreign foe. A nation that in the making was capable of such reconciliation and fusion in so short a time is formidable, indeed.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, June 14.—Auxiliary Club held their regular business and social meeting last Friday, June 8, on Milton road, at the fine home of Mrs. J. R. Seaman. The weather man did not give favorable or bright sunshine, instead we were blest with several showers following one after another. Still, where there is a will there is a way and quite a large delegation of members braved the storm and F. L. Palmer carried some in his auto, and Captain R. H. Decker with his car made several trips from the village and conveyed them to the Seaman home and return at the close of the club session. Mrs. Seaman and Mrs. W. E. Wilcox were the hostesses of the afternoon and welcomed all most heartily. The club had a few guests, also one new member admitted to its ranks, namely, Mrs. Caldwell. There was at the proper time for opening a great deal of business brought up and all taken up with an enthusiastic spirit, which is always so noticeable among the members. The committee all reported favorable along the different lines of work and all seemed to realize the fact that there was work for every one who belonged to the club. When the motion to adjourn was made it was seconded with vim for every one was ready for the social and from the buzz of tongues we were told there must have been a great deal to talk about, and every one knows the ladies love to visit. The hostesses served most delicious refreshments and from the way they disappeared one member said it was evident they were fond of the good things (positively). These were appreciated by every one. The next meeting of this club will be held in the church parlor. It was late when all left for their homes wishing health and happiness for the Seaman and Wilcox families, who had been so hospitable at the June club meeting.

The Methodist people have made some fine improvements by putting in a new stairway from the side entrance to the lecture room of the church. The trustees had this in hand and it makes a decided improvement and adds very greatly to the appearance and with the other improvement of enlarging the dining room makes now an ideal place for many church affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Atkins and daughter, Ethel, were out of town on Tuesday evening for an automobile trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Palmer went to Greenville last Saturday and returned on Sunday. They report a fine motor trip.

Miss Lily Merritt of Vineyard avenue was taken to Poughkeepsie to the hospital last Sunday. Her friends hope to hear of her speedy recovery.

The Rev. J. C. Coddington, M. E. pastor, had a wedding at the parsonage last Wednesday evening when he united in wedlock Miss Perkins and Charles Wilcox.

Porter Lacey, who is stationed at Seneca Falls, has been visiting his mother on Grand street in this place.

Last Saturday there was a delegation from this place by train to New York city to hear Billy Sunday. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. McCall, Mrs. Walter Constable and daughter, Lulu, Miss Florence Churchill, Mrs. Lew Martin, Mrs. Daniel Kurtz, Miss Adeline Terwilliger, and Miss Dorothy Churchill.

These people were there for both afternoon and evening services and heard the singing of the grand choir. They were all carried away with the music and would have been delighted to have remained longer, but duties and home ties caused them to return in the wee small hours of Sunday morning, so they could be on hand for Children's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. George Eyett of Maple avenue entertained guests the past week from New York city, also relatives from Poughkeepsie.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Ferris have been visiting for several days in New York city and while there they attended the services of Billy Sunday, and were impressed greatly with some of his sayings and from day to day this evangelist appeals to the sound common sense, experience and sentiments of all sorts and conditions of people from all over and we think his work in New York has been refreshing to very many.

Captain R. H. Decker and Edward Miller spent Monday in Pleasant Valley with Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Decker.

Ethel Decker and friend were week end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Decker, at this place.

Epworth League held their due social last Friday evening with a large attendance. There was a business meeting called first, then a program, consisting of recitations and music, remarks upon league work, which were interesting, and last, but not least, refreshments. This closed a very pleasant Epworth affair.

Last Thursday quite a jolly lot of people went to New York on the steamboat Mary Powell and attended the tabernacle, where the evangelist, Billy Sunday, proved to all he was one of the marvels of the age. Many abuse him and are suspicious of him, but he still continues to pour out extraordinary bits of humor, pathos and very often touches the hearts of the best people, and from what we heard, many do not like his sermons for the very reason he hits the nail on the head and gives the truth, which does not suit many who attend. Those who were in the delegation had reserved seats very near Billy and shook hands and conversed with him after the sermon. Those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Morie, Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso Koons, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Palmer, Mrs. Edward Miller, Miss Bertha Dimsey and Mrs. R. H. Decker.

Mrs. Kelsey Staples was hostess to the Queen Esther Circle at her home, Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Feester, Jr., had as guests Mrs. Andrus DuBois and son, formerly of Poughkeepsie, for the week end.

Charles Whitaker is confined to his home with an attack of rheumatism.

William Quick of Buffalo has been visiting with his wife here, and last Thursday he was a business visitor in New York city.

W. E. Wilcox was in New York this week purchasing goods for his store.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Feester were week end visitors in the Catskills. Children's Day was observed with some pomp in the Methodist ch.

Episcopal Church of this place. Although the rain made it very disagreeable, still the youngsters were not going to remain at home. There was just the gayest crowd of children one would wish to see. The stormy weather continued so long that there was no great profusion of flowers to be obtained, as in former years. Still dogwood blossoms, spirea, May apple flowers and greens were very attractively arranged and the decorations were greatly admired. The songs and recitations by the little ones and exercises by groups of girls were the striking features of the morning services. They have a Sunday school of many over 100 members. They marched very nicely and with their fair young faces, graceful forms and airy gowns, they certainly looked lovely. The church was filled and the people never miss the opportunity to see and hear the children on the day set aside for Children's Day.

Monday the Red Cross women held a meeting and did quite some work. Tuesday the several appointed to take military census commenced their work. Could see them going about from house to house and giving folks a test of answering the required questions. It is quite some work, we think, and thus will not be finished until June 25.

We have been notified that the O. E. S. members will have a picnic on June 27 at Lake Mohonk. They expect to leave here by trolley and on arrival at New Paltz all will be conveyed to their destination by stage. All are to take lunch with them.

Wednesday evening the officials of the M. E. Church held their first quarterly conference in the church parlor. District Superintendent F. E. Deming was present.

Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso Koons were in the metropolis last week.

Mrs. James S. Mack has several guests at Hillair.

Mrs. Catherine Rose has relatives from the west for a visit of a few weeks.

Mrs. Myron Terpening was a visitor in Poughkeepsie for a few days last week.

Principal E. A. Marsh and wife expect to leave for their summer vacation last of June or first part of July. They will be absent until the last of August.

Mrs. Welker and children are up from New York and occupying their summer home on Grand street. The people of this place are glad to welcome them.

Livingston Rhoades, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rhoades has gone to Savannah, Georgia, and is now in the quartermaster's corps.

Several children were baptized last Sunday morning at the M. E. Church.

Rev. and Mrs. Coddington entertained guests from the south for a few days last week. They left for their home on Monday of this week.

HEALTH OFFICER NOW LIEUTENANT

Dr. Frank A. Johnston Notified He Has Passed Examination for Medical Corps--While Exempt, Will Do His Bit.

Dr. Frank A. Johnston, the local health officer, has received notice that he has passed the examination he recently took for the Medical Reserve Corps and would shortly receive his appointment as lieutenant in the regular army. Lieutenant Johnston will also be notified when to report for duty. He will ask the health board for a leave of absence when called to the colors, which undoubtedly will be granted.

While Dr. Johnston is exempt from military duty on account of his national and state positions as health officer of the city, member of the registration board, and member of the exemption board to pass upon those who claim exemption from army draft, he said this morning that he felt older men were better able to do that work than serve with the army in France and that he is glad to do his bit for his country.

When Dr. Johnston is called to the colors it is likely that the health board will appoint a physician to act temporarily as health officer.

THAT SUNDAY ESCAPEE.

"Forget It," Says Owner of the Stolen Automobile.

Editor of The Freeman.

Dear Sir:--Will you please publish the following apropos the episode of last Sunday evening. I am convinced that the boys intended nothing worse than to carry out an extra hazardous youthful prank. They had their fun and I thought it proper that they should pay for it. But that the matter came into court was not because I desired to humiliate them. They were caught in the act by an officer and taken to headquarters. When the chief of police asked me over the phone Sunday evening whether I wished to press the charge against the boys and I said no, he told me that police regulations and discipline demand that they should appear before the recorder. When the seriousness of the offence dawned upon the young men they displayed the courage and courtesy of true gentlemen. They offered up like men; they voluntarily offered to pay for whatever damage was done and they cordially thanked me for not pressing the charge as "stipulated in the bond." I want to assure the young men and their friends that as far as Kenneth and I are concerned, the episode is closed without loss of respect for them on our part.

Here is my hand, boys, shake and forget it.

SUGAR REFINERY FIRE IN BROOKLYN

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, June 14.--One dead, five reported dying and about thirty workmen unaccounted for was the best available statement at noon today of the toll of the explosion and fire which wrecked the great Havemeyer and Elder plant of the American Sugar Refining Company in Brooklyn during the night.

Spontaneous combustion in machinery which had been operated under war order pressure, without let-up, for three years, was the cause of the explosion, United States Secret Service men believed this afternoon. Many of the missing men, it is believed, will be accounted for when a check-up is completed. Some forty received minor injuries.

Fire Chief Kenlon estimated the loss would be at least $1,000,000. Twenty-one million pounds of sugar was destroyed.

Pay $25 and Get Real Economy

True economy cannot be reckoned in cheap prices--that which is cheap is usually dear in the long run.

And so, in advising you to pay $25 for a suit of

we are counselling wise and true economy--a patriotic duty these days.

We especially would like to show and point out the superiorities of these suits to men who have not been in the habit of paying this much for their clothes. One of these suits will easily outwear three cheap suits.

CONFERENCE ON FOOD PROBLEMS

Plans for a conference to be held at Syracuse, at which food conservation, production, marketing and other agricultural problems will be taken up, have been approved by Governor Whitman, and the New York State Food Supply Commission today fixed July 5th and 6th as the dates for the sessions. The conference will open at 11 o'clock at the Onondaga Hotel, with representatives of the farming interests of the state and the members of the New York State Food Supply Commission present. The commission desires to obtain a state-wide expression of opinion from representative farmers and others as to the real problems which will face producers in the coming eighteen months. A careful plan has been worked out by the commission, which is designed to bring suggestions from the man who is in actual contact with these problems. Letters will be sent to the farm bureaus and to farmers from the headquarters in Albany asking for such suggestions. From these the commission will evolve questions which will come up for discussion at the Syracuse conference.

The New York State Food Supply Commission faced emergency work when it was appointed, and its first step was a census of the farm resources of the state. This census showed a shortage in seed—potatoes, buckwheat and the like—and the commission supplied these seeds at cost. Farm tractors were purchased and distributed through the state under what might be termed a rental plan in order to bring additional land under cultivation. The commission has carried out plans designed to increase production, and it was stated today that it now deems it desirable to plan carefully and definitely for the future work of the commission in order that it may take steps which will meet approaching agricultural and food problems.

The following industries will be represented at this conference: Dairying, live stock, farm crops, fruit, vegetables, poultry. The conference will be divided into groups for the discussion of separate questions. The groups will report to the conference their findings for discussion and approval and for the formulation of a program of agricultural procedure, which will form the basis for future work of the Food Supply Commission and of organizations represented in the conference. At the meeting of the commission today the following were present: Commissioner Charles S. Wilson, chairman; Dean A. R. Mann, State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, secretary; M. C. Burritt, Ithaca, Commissioner of Foods and Markets; John J. Dillon, New York city; R. D. Cooper, Little Falls; Seth J. T. Bush, Morton.

For Round Shoulders.

An excellent exercise to straighten round shoulders—good for girls or women who have to sit a good deal—is performed by placing a thin stick or wand across the back and letting it run out through the bent elbows. The arms are bent so that the hands rest on the chest. Keep the arms and shoulders pressed back and down and walk about the room in this way for five or ten minutes.

DO YOU OWN A "ONE YEAR" CAR? PAY $500 MORE AND GET A QUALITY CAR. $1350 BUYS A CHALMERS.

In going over our records a few days ago we found that 80 per cent of the men who had bought Chalmers cars this year previously owned "one year" cars.

Please pardon us for using a technical term such as "one year" cars. It is a name that has grown up among automobile salesmen and service men. It means, briefly, a car that looks well when new, runs well when new, but peters out towards the end of its first year.

10,000 miles is long life for the "one year" car.

Chalmers has never sought the "one year" car trade. Chalmers has always sought the quality trade.

Perhaps that fact explains our sales records. It evidently shows a rather decided tendency towards a better car, and we feel complimented naturally, that the trend is toward Chalmers.

Our advice, could we only get hold of those who are buying their first car, would be to pay $500 more and get quality.

For what is worse than a cheap pair of shoes, a cheap hat, cheap food or cheap jewelry?

Quality you never forget. By the way, have you ever sat behind the wheel of a Chalmers?

SEVERE STORM
IN WASHINGTON

Washington, June 14.—A thunderstorm unparalleled in violence and destructive force, broke over Washington, this afternoon, flooding the streets and putting to rout crowds that had gathered for out of door flag day celebrations.

The United States Weather Bureau reported the storm to be general throughout the Virginia-Maryland district. Hail stones one inch in diameter fell with the rain. It is feared that many fruit crops have been totally destroyed. Many minor injuries from hail stones were reported.

The storm was accompanied by vivid flashes of lightning and sharp explosion-like volleys of thunder. High winds tore many branches from the shade trees on the White House and Capitol grounds.

The storm continued at the height of its fury for nearly an hour, during which time electric lights were switched on to light the darkened streets.

Telegraph and telephone wires, leading out of Washington all have been put under ground since the war started, but in rural Maryland and Virginia heavy damage was done to communication lines.

A telegram was received on Tuesday by John A. Tice, Ellenville, informing him that his brother, Perry S. Tice, had passed away. Perry S. Tice was born in Waco, Texas, Monday night. A telegram was sent from Houston, Texas, where Mr. Tice has been engaged in business for the past seven years. Undoubtedly he had been on a business trip to Waco on the day of his death. Mr. Tice telegraphed to have the body of his brother properly prepared and sent by express to Ellenville and upon its arrival there funeral and interment will take place. Perry S. Tice was born in Ellenville in 1865, a son of the late A. Wurtz Tice and Irene Miller, his wife. He spent his boyhood and young manhood in his home town, where he was well and favorably known. For some time he held a position as bookkeeper and assistant cashier in the First National Bank; was the organist of the M. E. Church, a good singer and very fond of music. After leaving Ellenville he was for a time in the south, later engaged in business in Chicago, later in New York, before going to engage in business in Texas. He never married, retaining bachelorhood until his death, which came as a great shock to his brother and family in Ellenville. One other brother, James Tice, resides in Chicago. Announcement of funeral arrangements later.

NEW HIGH PRICES

Buying Movement in Wall Street Sends Bethlehem Steel B to New High Record—Upward Tendency Spreads to Other Stocks.

New York, June 14.—The buying movement which centered on U. S. Steel yesterday spread to many other issues on the stock exchange today, causing gains of 1 to 3 points in the morning trading. Added to the impetus of the steel dividend plan was a spirit of optimism based on the success of the Liberty Loan.

Bethlehem Steel B stock resumed its "war bride" performances by selling at 155 1/4, a new high record, and a gain of three points from the opening. Reading was pushed through par, selling at 100 1/4, up nearly two points, and Pittsburgh and West Virginia sold up 2 points, the common at 32 1/4, and the preferred at 66. Erie and Union Pacific also were heavily bought, each gaining more than a point.

Delaware and Hudson which dropped to 107 yesterday, on the announcement that an order to show cause in dividend injunction proceedings had been granted, advanced 111. International Paper was unsettled by the government statement of yesterday and dropped two points to 40, later rallying to 41.

A reactionary tendency developed in the stock market in the late forenoon. Steel Common, after selling at 134 1/4, dropped to 133 and Reading declined to 93 1/4. There was a show of strength in the copper stocks.

The market closed unsettled. There was a reactionary tendency in the last hour. Steel Common selling down to 132 1/4, a loss of 2 points from its high price of the early afternoon. Declines of 1 to 2 points were sustained in many other issues. Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds irregular.

SPARKS FROM THE WAR ANVIL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London—Naval men today interpreted the increase in shipping losses as showing that Germany is using more submarines in the barred zone waters. According to the official admiralty statement 38 vessels of all sizes were sunk during the week ending June 10 as compared with 23 the preceding week. The aggregate for the week just passed—22 over 1,600 tons, 10 under 1,600 tons and six fishing boats—is the largest for a month.

Paris—Major General John J. Pershing, the American commander-in-chief, was received in audience today by President Poincare of France. The meeting took place at the Palace of the Elysee, where General Pershing was afterwards entertained at luncheon.

Petrograd—The American mission headed by Elihu Root, which came here to help the provisional government solve the huge problems confronting it, already has entered upon the task. Members of the mission today conferred with representatives of the Lvoff cabinet, although the discussions are now at the very preliminary stage. There are two American commissions in Petrograd now. The second is dealing with transportation affairs and the lack of rail facilities. This railroad commission is headed by John F. Stevens, famous American engineer.

London—A cotton famine menaces England. Sir Charles Macara, a well known authority on the subject, said today that there is only seven weeks' supply of American cotton at Liverpool.

TAKE $185 FROM
DENTIST'S DESK

Some time between 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and early this morning, an expert sneak thief broke into the dental office of Dr. Miller at 324 Wall street, jimmied the dentist's desk and stole platinum and gold to the value of $185.

Dr. Miller's office door was equipped with a Yale lock which the thief picked. There is no safe in the office and Dr. Miller left his gold and platinum in his desk. Sergeant Hanley investigated and says the work is plainly that of an expert who makes it a practice of burglarizing dental offices.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The Joy of Shaving

depends on your hot water supply. Your razor,—your brush,—your soap,—your powder,—each has its particular advantage—but the backbone of a real, happy shave is—plenty of HOT water.

Are you shaving in comfort now? Do you sit and wait for the kettle to boil? Do you use tight, cold water that draws and irritates your skin?

If so, it's time to install a Ruud Automatic Water Heater. Then it's just a simple turn of the faucet and you get all the hot water you want. Then you'll know the joy of shaving. The cost of a Ruud is small—the results big.

Phone or write and one of our men will quickly and gladly call.

KINGSTON GAS & ELECTRIC CO.

BRUSHMAKERS BUY $4,000 IN BONDS

Herbert Brush Company's Total Subscription to Liberty Loan is $9,000 and Sixty Per Cent of Employees Show Their Patriotism by Purchases of Bonds.

Employees of the Herbert Brush Company have subscribed to $4,000 in Liberty Loan Bonds and the company has taken $5,000 more, making a total of $9,000 this plant has taken by way of doing its bit for the government. The Herbert Brush Company employs 110 men and nearly 60 per cent of these have subscribed, making the best record so far recorded in Kingston.

Under the Herbert plan, the bonds will be paid for at the rate of $1 per week and arrangements are made for any employee, if necessary, in case of sickness to be carried along until he can make up his payments. The men showed enthusiasm over the proposition and also at the fact that war orders are now being filled, Kingston-made brushes being supplied in quantities to the army and navy.

In fact the pressure of orders is heavy and more help is needed at the Herbert plants. To new employees a similar opportunity to subscribe to Liberty Loan Bonds will be made by the firm and it is believed that this opportunity will be sought by many.

The Herbert Company has been established more than 30 years and its officers are: J. F. Herbert, president; J. M. Herbert, vice-president and treasurer, and A. A. Herbert, secretary.

The employees of the firm who will be entitled to wear patriotic buttons showing they have subscribed to Liberty Loan Bonds are:

Michael Amerello, Lewis J. Brooks, B. S. Burroughs, J. Christians, John F. Corcoran, John Dave, Willis DuBois, Marius Don, George Dougherty, C. Enroff, W. Enroff, W. Floyd, J. CHILDISH MODES.

How to Gown the Little Girl in the Summer Time.

Many of the style ideas for the elders fit into childish requirements very effectively, and modish materials and colorings appeal to the maker of children's clothes, although, of course, many of the loveliest stuffs are totally inappropriate for young folk.

For the very small girls white is the accepted thing, and perhaps there is no great variety or novelty within the necessarily circumscribed limitations, but as soon as the little lady graduates into colors her wardrobe begins to offer more variety, if not greater distinctness.

There are mothers who dress their daughters entirely in white even beyond the years of babyhood—white pique, white linen, white wool, white lawn, batiste and mull—and the sad is a pretty one, but impractical for any whose purse is not well filled.

Practical little dresses in serviceable pique and linen are appearing in an almost inexhaustible supply, and many of them attain a certain dressy air, the style being in their hue and fineness of their details, for simplicity is the watchword here as elsewhere in the sphere of tasteful child clothing.

Many of these frocks of linen or pique are made on straight lines, having a narrow belt of the material or patent leather, fitting the figure loosely and placed at a low waist line. There are also many frocks made on the one piece Russian lines.

Semimilitary effects in embroidery and buttons, such as have been used for certain smart blouses designed for grownups, are introduced with excellent effect down the fronts of some little one piece frocks in white pique or heavy white linen, and pretty jumpers of linen or pique have front embroidered panels.

The Eton jacket or bolero model is always more or less a favorite idea with designers of children's garments, and this spring there are many frocks for the small girl as well as for older folks made with jaunty short boleros.

The little maid must have her barrel pockets, like everybody else. An attractive flapper coat from Lanvin is made of blue serge cloth, with over collar and revers of white faille matinee silk, stitched in rows with blue sewing silk matching the blue serge cloth. The belt buttons at either side, and below the buttons hang the huge barrel pockets, which stand well out from the coat and give a smart bulging line.

FLOWER FADS.

The Snapdragon is Coming into Fashion Just Now.

Fashions change even in flowers. There was a time when the fuchsia was all the rage. Then the dahlia had a time of immense popularity, and hundreds of new varieties were on the market.

Then came the turn of the chrysanthemum, but as it needed a house and a lot of attention it was soon left to the specialists like the orchid.

Then came the great sweet pea boom. Anybody who had a garden at all filled it with sweet peas, and new varieties were called after every imaginable person or note on earth.

Now there is a new star—the snapdragon. People used rather to despise this flower. But, lo, the expert has taken notice of it, and it has suddenly become the rage. If the seed pods are nipped off they put out new shoots, which bear flowers until one imagines they are, like Tennyson's brook, going "on forever."

FRENCHY DESIGN.

What Paris Sends Us For a Breakfast Coat.

Smoke gray chiffon is the fabric used for this beautiful garment. The front is finely hand tucked, and femininely dainty ruffles of the chiffon adorn the collar and cuffs in double rows. A string belt of the fabric girds the waist loosely.

The word "democrat" originated from two Greek words. "Demos" means the common people; "krates" means rule. A democrat is one who favors rule by the people.

IF YOU CAN'T FIGHT YOU CAN GIVE!

JUNE 18 TO JUNE 25

WILL BE

NATIONAL RED CROSS WEEK

BY PROCLAMATION OF PRESIDENT WILSON

Over Two Hundred Prominent Men and Women are behind this campaign in Ulster county. They realize what it means for OUR BOYS to have go with them to France. They are giving freely of their time and energy, as they have given, and will give, of their funds.

Every American owes it to those who will fight our fight to give as he has never given before.

WILL YOU DO YOUR SHARE?

Ulster County's Share Is $50,000.00

Our Brothers, Our Fathers, Our Sons will soon be fighting in France for our future security from the menace of Kaiserism.

MANY WILL BE WOUNDED!

Their sufferings will be lessened, their comfort enhanced by the wonderful work of the RED CROSS SOCIETY.

So important did President Wilson consider this movement that he has given it his official approval and set one week as the time for the collection of funds for this cause.

How Much Shall I Give?

How much would you have given Washington at Valley Forge to help his ragged, starving troops if you had had it to give?

How much would you have given in 1861-1865 if you saw the thousands of brave lads who died for want of proper care, sanitation, food and clothing?

How much would you have given in 1898 if you had been in Cuba and had seen our men dying like flies of deplorable neglect because you and I had not foreseen the need of an EFFICIENT RED CROSS SOCIETY to supplement the medical work of the government?

Give with your whole heart—give what you can. The multitudes of contributions from the toilers who must count each coin will be no less welcome than the fewer, but larger, gifts of those who have.

Children to Give!
